11:52:29 AM from eileen oshea to All Participants:
Hi everybody and welcome!

11:52:55 AM from eileen oshea to All Participants:
Handouts and slides for today's webinar:
<http://infopeople.org/training/children%E2%80%99s-literature-update-2012>

11:53:23 AM from Sharon Fiske to All Attendees:
Good afternoon from Florida's Palm Coast.

11:53:51 AM from Stanley Strauss to All Attendees:
Chat goes to everyone. Q&A only goes to the presenter.

12:08:40 PM from erica gonzalez to All Participants:
I have read the Cazuela and loved this picture book. I also liked that at the end of the book it gives you the recipe for arroz con leche

12:09:04 PM from Elaine Ang to All Attendees:
Hi! Erica...Thank you for the tip! :)

12:13:04 PM from Jennifer Robinson to All Participants:
I read "I want my hat back" at preschool storytime last week and the kids fell over laughing

12:15:06 PM from Sharon Fiske to All Attendees:
Wonder Struck is an awesome book for teens and tweens. I highly recommend it. As good as Hugo.

12:17:57 PM from Christine Dengel to All Participants:
Where's Walrus for Caldecott

12:18:04 PM from Darlene Feuillebois to All Participants:
I am really happy that Mo Willems received an award!

12:18:06 PM from Laurie Reese to All Attendees:
I was hoping that Stars, illustrated by Marla Frazee, would get recognized by the Caldecott Committee.

12:18:14 PM from Carol Brumfield to All Participants:
Okay for now was a surprise for me too. I liked it better than Dead End in Norvelt.

12:18:16 PM from Chelsea Couillard to All Participants:
I thought Amelia Lost was one of the best nonfiction titles of the last few years, and was hoping for a Newbery honor if not a Sibert honor. And nothing!

12:18:19 PM from Wendy Dunn to All Attendees:

Chat from Children's Literature Update 2012

Loved Stars too

12:18:19 PM from Armin Arethna to All Participants:
I loved Wonderstruck, and was surprised that it did not get more recognition!

12:18:21 PM from Lyn Davidson to All Attendees:
In San Francisco we had a mock Caldecott award panel and chose Me Jane as the winner. Everyone loved it. We also considered Where's Walrus and it won our 3rd place in the mock, and we were sad it didn't get anything.

12:18:39 PM from Debra Spero to All Attendees:
I loved Never Forgotten...a marvelous book!

12:18:43 PM from antoinette walker to All Attendees:
You're right, the pictures in Heart & Soul and The Great Migration are absolutely wonderful. They make the books that much more interesting!

12:18:48 PM from Kathy Otto to All Participants:
I thought Wonderstruck was also award worthy.

12:18:56 PM from Wendy Dunn to All Attendees:
Not a fan of Dead End...

12:19:09 PM from Philip Bloom to All Participants:
Octopus Soup by Mercer Mayer

12:19:10 PM from Robin Marshall to All Participants:
I love Sandra Boynton!

12:19:18 PM from Lindsay duPont to All Attendees:
Press Here is a wonderful storytime read for small groups.

12:19:44 PM from Pstricia Raiche to All Attendees:
Press Here is so fun!!! My kids loved it!

12:19:55 PM from Nancy Curdts to All Attendees:
Press Here is exceptional! Fun for storytime too.

12:20:02 PM from Kara Wiseman to All Participants:
We loved it too!

12:20:32 PM from Alice Tam to All Attendees:
happy hippo, angry duck is a wonderful book!

12:20:50 PM from Carol Brumfield to All Participants:

Chat from Children's Literature Update 2012

I gave Press Here to a 3 year old and her Mom said she won't put it down. It's her new favorite toy!

12:20:57 PM from Lindsay duPont to All Attendees:

Yes, I wouldn't say Press Here is a board book. I'd think more toddlers.

12:20:57 PM from Robin Marshall to All Participants:

Ick. Board books should be original text

12:20:58 PM from Linda Brown to All Participants:

I used Press Here at a recent storytime and kept 30 kids laughing and busy during the whole book! Loved it.

12:21:22 PM from Joy Shiohita to All Participants:

Press Here - also beloved here. The binding hasn't held up well, though.

12:21:30 PM from Darlene Feuillebois to All Participants:

Karen Katz does a great job with diversity and board books

12:21:38 PM from Rachel Icaza to All Attendees:

always looking for things focused on non traditional families

12:21:45 PM from Lizeth Legaspi to All Attendees:

love Karen Katz books!

12:21:46 PM from Kathy Otto to All Participants:

I think picture books recreated into board books is mostly just a money maker for publishers.

12:21:55 PM from Robin Marshall to All Participants:

Love Karen Katz!

12:22:17 PM from erica gonzalez to All Participants:

Who has these feet is a fun book

12:22:48 PM from Christine Dengel to All Participants:

light up the night seems great for this year's SRP theme, I haven't read it yet

12:23:40 PM from Kara Wiseman to All Participants:

Any one else think that donuts and apple juice sound yuck together? (If you give a Dog a Donut)

12:24:09 PM from Paula Klocek to All Participants:

depends what kind of donut

12:24:09 PM from Theresa Heath to All Attendees:

Chat form Children's Literature Update 2012

Me! Yuck ;)

12:24:13 PM from Philip Bloom to All Participants:

Zeal of Zebras is a very cool book that talks about all of the neat plural names of animals

12:24:15 PM from Rebecca Mack to All Participants:

Not with a cinnamon doughnut. Yummmm

12:24:36 PM from Angela Luis to All Participants:

yuck to donuts and apple juice

12:24:52 PM from Carla Cantor to All Participants:

Or molasses!

12:25:10 PM from Chelsea Couillard to All Participants:

It is the same William Joyce. It's an animated short film he created.

12:25:43 PM from Robin Marshall to All Participants:

Yes, easy readers are tough to find quality

12:26:02 PM from Diane Lettieri to All Participants:

There are many easy readers which are commercialized - Barbie, Thomas the Tank Engine....

12:26:16 PM from Paula Klocek to All Participants:

hate those

12:26:21 PM from Darlene Feuillebois to All Participants:

Hilarious!

12:26:29 PM from Carla Cantor to All Participants:

National Pig Day is March 1.

12:26:32 PM from Robin Marshall to All Participants:

I'm not a fan of the character books i.e. Thomas, Barbie, Dora...blech

12:26:50 PM from Debra Spero to All Attendees:

Happy Pig Day is adorable! Should I Share My Ice Cream is also a "winner."

12:26:51 PM from Linda Brown to All Participants:

I have adults check out Mo Willems.

12:26:53 PM from Elaine Ang to All Attendees:

I got to say that Dora is the the most requested books!

Chat form Children's Literature Update 2012

12:27:07 PM from Laurie Reese to All Attendees:

Lois Ehlert's Rrralph is a fabulous new picture book and fits in so well with storytime & Every Child Ready to Read.

12:27:13 PM from Lindsay duPont to All Attendees:

We get demands for the Disney princess books by Lagonegro.

12:27:38 PM from Debra Frisco to All Attendees:

Barbie goes out constantly... whatever ... it gets kids who don't want to read a hook to get them reading!

12:29:16 PM from Angela Luis to All Participants:

i enjoyed clementine and the family meeting

12:29:19 PM from Darlene Feuillebois to All Participants:

Fly Guy is big

12:29:22 PM from Shana HArrington to All Participants:

The ones by Kido

12:29:26 PM from Joy Shioshita to All Participants:

The librarian who buys our Readers esp. liked Benjamin Bear in Fuzzy Thinking-- a Toon book.

12:29:28 PM from Rosemarie Brown to All Attendees:

Adria F. Worsham's Max books

12:29:33 PM from Darlene Feuillebois to All Participants:

Biscuit

12:29:33 PM from erica gonzalez to All Participants:

cam jamsen still gets checked out at our library

12:29:33 PM from Ramarie Beaver to All Participants:

Katie Woo is very popular in our library's ER collection

12:29:34 PM from Shana HArrington to All Participants:

They are the flip a word

12:29:35 PM from Chelsea Couillard to All Participants:

I love the Toon Books!

12:29:38 PM from Debra Spero to All Attendees:

I love Margaret Hillert books. They are great go alongs with stories for parents!

12:29:40 PM from Lori Collins to All Attendees:

Chat from Children's Literature Update 2012

We can't keep the Fly Guy books on our shelves!

12:29:44 PM from Diane Lettieri to All Participants:
Yes Fly Guy --- very popular in our libraries

12:29:47 PM from Paula Klocek to All Participants:
Katie Woo and Fancy Nancy

12:29:50 PM from Cheryl Meibos to All Participants:
I found some Easy Reader Superhero and Spiderman books that are flying out the door!

12:29:51 PM from Carol Morse to All Participants:
The Miss Smith Series

12:29:52 PM from Kara Wiseman to All Participants:
Lenonardo the Terrible Monster is my favorite Mo Willems books.

12:29:54 PM from Theresa Heath to All Attendees:
Hank the Cowdog is a big hit here!

12:30:07 PM from Karen Golden to All Participants:
Kids enjoy reading about characters they recognize. If this gets them reading, go for it!

12:30:09 PM from Philip Bloom to All Participants:
Jeff Smith, the creator of bone, did a good EZR

12:30:10 PM from Carol Brumfield to All Participants:
The Toon Books have been a big hit with boys who think they don't like to read!

12:30:20 PM from Elaine Ang to All Attendees:
Alvin Ho is popular here

12:30:46 PM from Megan Katz to All Participants:
I wish every library would separate Transition Books!

12:30:55 PM from Robin Marshall to All Participants:
Me too, Megan!

12:30:59 PM from Megan Katz to All Participants:
:)

12:31:02 PM from Rachel Icaza to All Attendees:
We call them First Chapters

Chat form Children's Literature Update 2012

- 12:31:27 PM from Connie Edwards to All Participants:
If I only had the space for a seperate section.
- 12:31:56 PM from Carol Brumfield to All Participants:
Mercy Watson Books are a hit here as Transitional Fiction.
- 12:32:20 PM from erica gonzalez to All Participants:
geronimo stilton books are popular here because of the color pictures
- 12:32:31 PM from Kara Wiseman to All Participants:
We have ER shelves seperated in Pre-K, 1st Grade Readers & 2nd Grade Readers
- 12:32:32 PM from Kim Lacher to All Attendees:
We like Mercy Watson's Too!
- 12:32:34 PM from Robin Marshall to All Participants:
Squish!!
- 12:32:37 PM from Diane Lettieri to All Participants:
Sara Pennypacker will be an author / speaker at our upcoming Reading Festival March 17th here in Lee County, Florida
- 12:32:48 PM from Janis Seagrave to All Participants:
I wish more Stink books would be published soon.
- 12:32:50 PM from Lauren Brosnihan to All Participants:
Buddy Files
- 12:32:50 PM from Robin Marshall to All Participants:
I <3 Babymouse and Squish
- 12:33:24 PM from Rachel Icaza to All Attendees:
Casketball looks like a fun Pinkywater read-alike
- 12:33:25 PM from Angela Luis to All Participants:
Binky Spacecat is fun too
- 12:33:31 PM from Robin Marshall to All Participants:
Love Binky too
- 12:33:56 PM from Chelsea Couillard to All Participants:
Love Binky and also Guinea Pig Private Eye
- 12:33:58 PM from Kara Wiseman to All Participants:
I'm getting ready to order new Disney Princess early chapter books.

Chat form Children's Literature Update 2012

12:34:55 PM from Debra Frisco to All Attendees:

They'll fly out, I think they can capture the attention of chronic movie watchers who rarely open a book...

12:35:25 PM from Rachel Icaza to All Attendees:

my teens love the Croaked book!

12:35:30 PM from Nancy Curdts to All Attendees:

I worry about how well into the unknown will hold up. It is great, but the maps are not easy to unfold.

12:35:31 PM from Lindsay duPont to All Attendees:

There's also the Disney Fairies chapterbooks, featuring Tinkerbell & Friends. one of the authors is Papademitriou, I believe.

12:35:36 PM from erica gonzalez to All Participants:

Oh teh greek mythology book looks good

12:35:41 PM from Janis Seagrave to All Participants:

I loved Into the Unknown. Took it home and read it before the cutaways & maps got trashed. A page-turner for nf.

12:36:06 PM from Kara Wiseman to All Participants:

LOVE How they Croaked. I read some of it to tweens & they listened!

12:36:29 PM from Lisa Darenberg to All Attendees:

New Core Standards are asking that half of reading assignments come from non-fiction so these are great!

12:37:23 PM from eileen oshea to All Participants:

Yes! The handouts (including a bibliography) can be downloaded here:
<http://infopeople.org/training/children%E2%80%99s-literature-update-2012>

12:39:20 PM from Debra Frisco to All Attendees:

Everything on it is fabulous!

12:39:22 PM from Pstricia Raiche to All Attendees:

The rainboe fairies are a big hit here

12:39:40 PM from Amanda Courie to All Attendees:

Swirl by Swirl was a beautiful poetry/science/math book

12:39:45 PM from Pstricia Raiche to All Attendees:

that's Rainbow Fairies

Chat form Children's Literature Update 2012

12:40:00 PM from Lyn Davidson to All Attendees:

Daisy Meadows' fairy books are in constant demand in San Francisco: formulaic but they fly off the shelves :)

12:40:05 PM from Laurie Reese to All Attendees:

Won Ton--the poem in haiku about the shelter cat.

12:40:18 PM from Ellie Anderson to All Attendees:

Another great greek myth book is "Gifts from the Gods: Ancient Words & Wisdom from Greek and Roman Mythology" by Lise Lunge-Larsen.

12:40:27 PM from Carol Morse to All Participants:

We do a Poetry contest with CSU (Peach Blossom) it is a huge event with our school

12:40:41 PM from Carla Cantor to All Participants:

The tweens at our library love Rudyard Kipling's 'Just So Stories.'

12:40:43 PM from Lindsay duPont to All Attendees:

Which CSU?

12:40:53 PM from erica gonzalez to All Participants:

thanks for mentioning that book ellie

12:40:57 PM from Carol Morse to All Participants:

California State Univer.

12:40:59 PM from Sharon Fiske to All Attendees:

This Dark Endeavor nicely sets the background ofr Frankenstein. Definitely a recommended read for high school students who are required to read Shelley's work. There is darkness to the story and is more suitable for teens than tweens. I really enjoyed this work, and I am not a Frankenstein fan.

12:40:59 PM from Rachel Icaza to All Attendees:

Liesl & Po was fab

12:41:06 PM from Debra Frisco to All Attendees:

LOve the idea of a poetry contest with Night theme for SRP

12:41:19 PM from Janis Seagrave to All Participants:

POEMS I WROTE WHEN NO ONE WAS LOOKING by Alan Katz, ill by Edward Koren, has very much a Silverstein-Prelutsky style, filled with short, funny poems.

12:41:26 PM from Angela Luis to All Participants:

we'll have our 13th annual poetry contest this year sponsored by the Friends of the Portola Valley Library and coordinated by me

Chat from Children's Literature Update 2012

12:41:32 PM from Robin Marshall to All Participants:
I love Alan Katz

12:41:55 PM from Rachel Icaza to All Attendees:
Liesl & Po so good for kids grieving a loss of a parent

12:42:57 PM from Alice Tam to All Attendees:
no sound?

12:43:06 PM from Benjamin Hunter to All Attendees:
None here either

12:43:18 PM from Lindsay duPont to All Attendees:
Try cancelling your sound window and restarting it.

12:43:26 PM from Lucinda Mason to All Attendees:
I lost sound as well

12:43:30 PM from Diane Lettieri to All Participants:
Naamah and the Ark at Night a lullaby by Susan Campbell Bartoletti ---poetic structure is a ghazal (sounds like guzzlw) ghazal is a very old and extremely disciplined Arabic form. Poetry related and diversity in one book

12:43:38 PM from Debra Frisco to All Attendees:
No sound!

12:43:44 PM from Joy Shiohita to All Participants:
Liesl & Po - also good audiobook narrated by Jim Dale, who recorded Harry Potter, etc.

12:43:44 PM from Kelly Norder to All Attendees:
no sound

12:43:48 PM from Benjamin Hunter to All Attendees:

It's the little window at the bottom with the pause button. Close that, then reopen under "communicate"

12:46:52 PM from Joy Shiohita to All Participants:
Okay for Now - also one of my favorites fm last yr. Audio version deservedly rec'd Odyssey Honor recognition.

12:46:56 PM from Rebecca Mack to All Participants:
Yessss. Tom Angleberger. The Strange Case of Origami Yoda and Darth Paper are both hilarious.

12:47:15 PM from Lyn Davidson to All Attendees:
sound back! thanks!

12:47:19 PM from Pstricia Raiche to All Attendees:
Has anyone else lost audio?

12:47:28 PM from Rachel Icaza to All Attendees:
still no sound...not connecting

12:47:43 PM from Robin Marshall to All Participants:
Carl Hiaasen's books go really well here

12:47:50 PM from Debra Frisco to All Attendees:
Sound back here!

12:48:11 PM from Pstricia Raiche to All Attendees:
Got it back Thanks!!!

12:48:52 PM from Rebecca Mack to All Participants:
I've heard the Brixton Brothers are also a good humor/mystery mix.

12:49:03 PM from Heather Hawryluk to All Participants:
